Primary Care Centre - Greet Road, Winchcombe

Built in the shadow of the Cotswold escarpment this new-build 550m<sup>2</sup> four GP Surgery demonstrates the success of contemporary design within an established rural setting. brp architects completed a 260m<sup>2</sup> extension, internal reconfiguration and upgrade and external works remodelling in 2016.

Incorporating many innovative uses of otherwise traditional materials to the locality – including natural Cotswold stone, horizontal cedar boarding plus a high performance through-coloured render system and a standing seam welted stainless steel roof all of which weather down quickly to provide a mature, well established appearance.

Adopting a cruciform plan format the building has a central Two storey spine, supplemented by two single storey wings to each side – enabling a clear hierarchy to the built form and helping to integrate into the sloping site.

All external facing materials provide cladding to a loadbearing steel and timber inner frame, which offers endless flexibility and adaptation possibilities for the future.
